BY CAR

Bethany Beach, Fenwick Island and the surrounding Quiet Resorts area is a manageable drive from home. Once you arrive, travel is easy and, often, pedestrian or bike friendly. The Quiet Resorts are mainly accessed by Route 1, also known as Coastal Highway, for those coming from the north; or Route 50 for those coming from the west.

BY BOAT

Some travelers from the north get the treat of relaxing on the Cape May-Lewes Ferry for a portion of their travel. This 70-minute boat ride across the Delaware Bay links Cape May in Southern New Jersey with Lewes in Southern Delaware.

BY PLANE

Our convenient location comes with easy access to major airports in the Baltimore-Washington Metropolitan Area (BWI) and Philadelphia (PHL). Smaller airports throughout Sussex County, Delaware and nearby Salisbury, Maryland (SBY) are also located in close proximity to the Quiet Resorts.

WHILE YOU’RE HERE

With all amenities located close to town centers, the need to drive from point A to point B quickly diminishes. Many people instead opt for a stroll on the sidewalks or a bike ride through town. Plenty of crosswalks and bike lanes make the area pedestrian and cyclist friendly. Even more of a luxury is the Bethany Beach Trolley for those staying in Bethany Beach.
Believe it or not, “Dela... where?” is a common question. Delaware ranks as the second smallest state by area of all 50 states, beat out by just Rhode Island.

The Quiet Resorts can be found nestled along the southeastern tip of Delaware in Sussex County. Just a short drive from cities such as Baltimore, Philadelphia and Washington D.C., our convenient location makes the Quiet Resorts a popular leisure destination whether you plan to visit for a day, a week, or an entire season.

Pleasant weather in the spring and fall allows for relaxing spur-of-the-moment getaways, with great deals on accommodations, restaurants, and activities such as golf and bird watching trips. The Chamber’s Ocean to Bay Bike Tour in April is a great opportunity to experience the natural beauty of our area outside the busy summer season.

It is no secret that Southern Delaware is home to many beautiful beaches, spanning north from Lewes, followed by Rehoboth and Dewey, and the Quiet Resorts. The Quiet Resorts includes more than 10 miles of pristine beaches, both public and private. The most familiar beaches located in the Quiet Resorts are Bethany Beach and Fenwick Island, as there is public beach access and lifeguards on duty. Other ocean front neighborhoods include North Bethany, Sea Colony, Middlesex and South Bethany. These beaches are privately operated and do not allow for public beach access.

The Quiet Resorts also spans inland to towns and communities including Ocean View, Millville, Clarksville, Dagsboro, Roxana, Frankford, Selbyville, and West Fenwick. Despite the inland location, many of these towns have water access to bays and creeks or are situated just a short drive to a marina, dock or sandy beach. With convenient water access throughout the area, the Quiet Resorts lends itself to a morning swim, spontaneous scenic kayaking trip, fantastic surf fishing, or an afternoon boating adventure.

Whatever you enjoy doing on vacation, you can do it here in The Quiet Resorts. Bicycle on safely-marked lanes along the coast and countryside, kayak or sail on the ocean or bay, or tee off on one of our championship golf courses. For more relaxing outdoor activities, fish or crab from a tranquil pier, or grab a book and relax on our pristine beaches.

During your stay, get acquainted with our rich history. Fenwick Island is home to a historic 89-foot tall lighthouse built in 1858. Fire control towers, built by the U.S. Army during World War II to protect the coast from invasion, still stand along the shore. Local museums, such as the Indian River Life-Saving Station, tell of our areas rich maritime history while a “whispering giant,” the 24-foot tall wooden sculpture Chief Little Owl, stands in downtown Bethany Beach to honor our Native American heritage (seen page 39.)

For some extra entertainment, a number of popular award-winning events are held throughout the year. For a list of some of the premier events held in The Quiet Resorts area, check out the Calendar of Events on page 8.

Army observation towers are enduring symbols of the role southern Delaware’s coast played to protect the home front in World War II. The U.S Army built the cylindrical concrete towers in the early 1940s to serve as the “eyes for Fort Miles” in Cape Henlopen State Park in Lewes, DE, a short distance from the Quiet Resorts. Eleven towers line the coast, from Fenwick to Cape Henlopen. Soldiers in the towers would watch for enemy vessels, then radio their positions to the fort so the fort’s big guns could target German surface ships. One tower at Cape Henlopen is open to the public and offers spectacular views of the coast. On a clear day, you can see the coast of New Jersey just across the Delaware Bay.

Also nestled in Cape Henlopen State Park is Fort Miles. The fort, positioned at the mouth of the Delaware Bay, was armed to defend major cities including Wilmington and Philadelphia. One of the largest and most heavily armed coastal fortifications ever built, Fort Miles is a historical gem. The Fort Miles Historical Association offers tours of the underground artillery Battery 519. For tour dates and times, visit www.fortmiles.org.

Through a partnership between Delaware Preservation Foundation and Fort Miles Historical Association, efforts are under way to restore Tower #3 in Delaware Seashore State Park on Route 1 just south of Dewey Beach. Once Tower #3 is restored, it will be open to the public with interpretive tours.

Fort Miles Historical Association
In 1858, the Federal government purchased a 10-acre tract of land along the Delaware-Maryland line for only $50 in order to build a lighthouse serving as a guide for ships approaching the Fenwick Shoals. The 87-foot tall lighthouse cast its first beacon of light the following year, 1859, on August 1st. The light could be seen 15 miles out to sea.

Without any warning to the public, the U.S. Coast Guard deactivated the lighthouse and for three years it remained dark. On September 12, 1981, the lighthouse was turned over to the State of Delaware, who in turn passed the care along to the “Friends of the Fenwick Island Lighthouse.” The light came back on in 1982 and has been on ever since. The lighthouse is now cared for by the “New Friends of the Fenwick Island Lighthouse” and can be toured in the summer months. Find out more at www.fenwickislandlighthouse.org or call 302-436-8100. The lighthouse is located bayside at Lighthouse Road/146th St.

The 24-foot statue at the downtown entrance to Bethany Beach has been a landmark since 1976. The wooden sculpture was donated to the Town as part of Peter Wolf Toth’s “Trail of the Whispering Giants.” He created more than 50 wooden sculptures of famous Indians and donated at least one to every state.

The wooden statue standing today is the third version of Chief Little Owl, dedicated on July 15th, 2012. Toth created this newest version from a red cedar log from the Pacific Northwest which should last from 50 to 150 years. During the ceremony State Senator George Bunting said, “It’s a landmark that says ‘you’re in Bethany’ and it pays honor to the Nanticoke nation. It ties us to our heritage.” Charlie Clark, a descendent of Little Owl, blessed the sculpture in traditional fashion with song, prayer and tobacco.
